SacRT Offers Free Rides on Light Rail to JUMP Bike Users

JUMP

In an effort to encourage more people to try going car-free, SacRT and JUMP have teamed up to offer free rides on light rail for anyone that uses a JUMP bike as a first-mile/last-mile mobility solution to get to a SacRT light rail station. The offer is available from Monday, December 9 through Saturday, December 14.

How the free ride works:

1. Complete a JUMP bike trip within the service area between December 9 and 14, 2019.
2. Board a SacRT light rail train the same day and have your valid JUMP bike receipt ready to show a fare inspector to ride for free.

The offer is non-transferable and only the individual completing the JUMP ride is eligible for the free ride on light rail. JUMP riders are eligible to redeem the offer each day during the campaign they take a JUMP bike.

There are nine bike charging hubs at SacRT light rail stations; the newest was installed at the Broadway Station in October. JUMP bike users can earn financial rewards by docking a low-battery bike at a charging hub. Riders can double their rewards by downloading the free Miles app from the App Store or Google Play to earn points for every mile traveled.

JUMP’s electric assist bikes can be rented through the Uber app or the JUMP app. Plan your next trip on SacRT by visiting the online trip planner at sacrt.com.
